

Low Profile Optoelectronic Package

Abstract

A low profile optoelectronic package is provided. The thermal electrical coolers are mounted on the sidewalls of the package box. The sides of the platform on which optical components are disposed are attached on the top surface of the thermal electrical coolers. The overall height of the package is reduced. For an open bottom package box, the platform can be accessed from the bottom.